The National Socialism Documentation Centre is a multimedia museum on the history of Freiburg in the 20th century. The National Socialist dictatorship from 1933 to 1945 is the main topic of the exhibition, which also sheds light on the events leading up to this dark period in history and on its consequences up to the present day. The historical exhibition is designed to be interactive: Four chronologically organised, individually designed “time rooms” invite visitors to engage intensively with the past. All text displays in the exhibition are written in German, English and French.

Freiburger Bächle Tour (EN)

16.08.2025, 09:50

They are Freiburg's most famous sight besides the Cathedral: the small canals called "Bächle". In fact, the Bächle run through the entire city, totaling over 15 kilometres, with a unique feat of medieval engineering. They also harbour many secrets waiting for you to reveal. First question: why are they even there? The answer will astound many... but there's more.

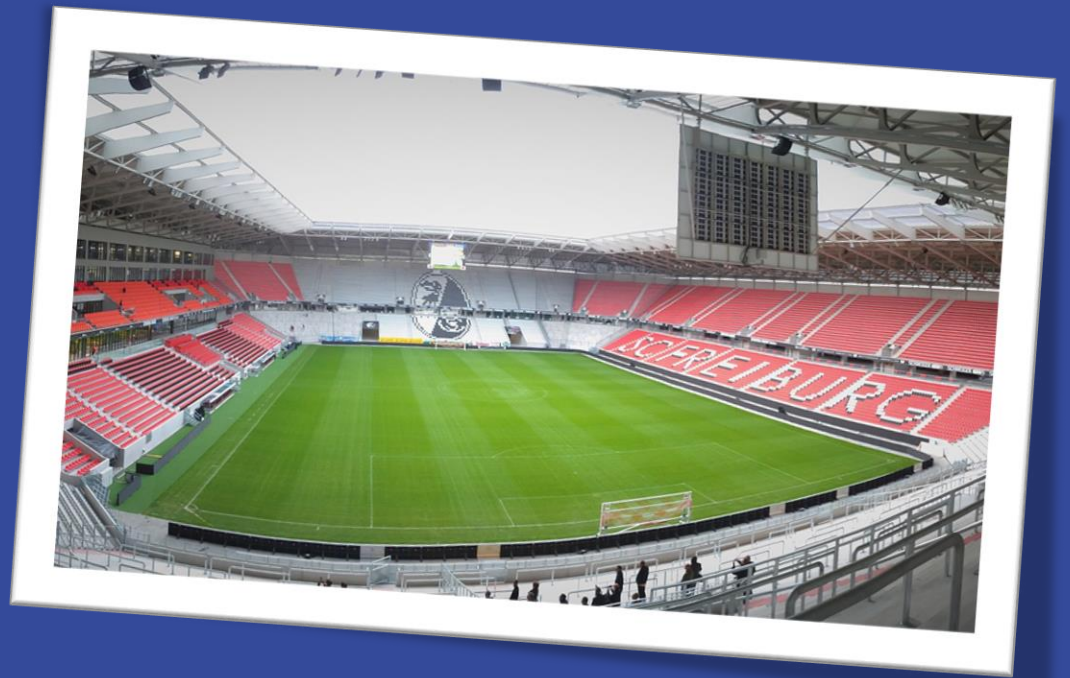

Our tour begins at the Schwabentor, where we will explain the origin of the Bächle, which even many Freiburg residents don't know. Where does the water come from and how does the complicated network function without any pumps? Via the entrance to the Bächlestollen on the Schlossberg, we will head to the Gerberau (Tanners' Alley) and Fischerau (Fishermen's Alley), where the industrial canals are connected to the Bächle streams. Here we will learn a lot about medieval craftsmanship, the guilds and life in the town. Then, at Münsterplatz we will see a few very old 'original' medieval Bächle. On the way towards the university, we will learn about the energy generation from the water power of the industrial canals, which is still used today.
